Veteran Athletics At Savannah Today

CHARLOTTEVILLE, March 14.—The veteran athletes left Hot Springs in a special car and, after numerous shifts, landed here yesterday with all the good intentions of playing a game of ball with the University of Virginia team, but the weather man, because he did not receive a couple of passes, butted in with a cold rain which put all thought of baseball to the bad.

A large crowd of students led by Coach Rigger, met the boys at the depot eager to get a glimpse of Connors, Bender, and Collier, and after a delay of a few minutes for which to look after the baggage, the team was escorted to the Y. M. C. A. building, where Morgan and Livingston entertained the crowd with singing and dancing until lunch was announced. As all hands breakfasted at 6 a. m. it was a hungry bunch which surrounded the table and the waiters were kept busy serving double portions.

Mr. Rigger announced that it would be impossible to play in the grounds even if the rain ceased, so quite a few of the team left for the gymnasium, where they spent an hour in exercise, after which the moving picture shows were visited.

The team arrives at Savannah today ready to do battle with the Vagabonds.

GEORGETOWN READY FOR Y. M. C. A. FIVE

Both Basketball Quints Are Confident of Landing Wednesday's Game.

With the outcome of tomorrow's game at the association gym, in G street, meaning life or death to the Y. M. C. A. team so far as the amateur basketball championship of the District is concerned, it is expected Georgetown will have even a harder task on its hands than it did in the previous game.

The Y. M. C. A. has the advantage of its home floor, but the Blue and Gray teams will feel at home playing under the intercollegiate rules, which will obtain at the contest. Both teams know what to expect after the extra-period of last Wednesday, which Georgetown won by the narrow margin of two points, and they have indulged in hard practice. No changes will be made in the line-ups.

The task of O. W. Roakes, who enters upon his duties as president of the Independence Baseball League today, is apparently to be a pleasant one. If the enthusiasm and harmony which attended the meeting last night, at the residence of A. E. Riddle, 1929 North Capitol street, is a criterion.

It was decided at the meeting last evening to build a clubhouse on the league grounds, at North Capitol and V streets, for the accommodation of the home and visiting players.

Longest Checker Game

VENICE, Ohio, March 14.—What is believed to be the longest checker game on record was played at Venice, Ohio, between Trautline Hanken and Herman Orley, village experts. It began Friday morning about 7:30 o'clock and ended shortly before 11 o'clock p. m. Hanken won.

Few moves were made before the player whose turn it was to move had studied the board for from thirty minutes to an hour. The players announced before they started in that they did not want to be disturbed. They ate and drank, but never once stopped playing. A dollar apiece was posted on the result of the game by the players.

Hanken declares he never before had to work so hard for so little money.

HOPPE HAVING HIS TROUBLES IN PARIS

Comes Under Law Against Foreigner Playing for Money.

PARIS, March 14.—Willie Hoppe, the champion billiard player of the world, has had his own troubles since he signed to play in Paris at the Olympia, owing to the law that was passed here a few years ago against a foreigner playing in France for money. As everyone knows, this was directed against the American professional.

When Hoppe was over here three years ago he heard that this law had been passed, and that he was apt to get in trouble if he continued to play for money or to allow anyone on the side to bet on his game, and, seeing that he was in wrong, he gave up playing and returned to New York.

When the Olympia management discovered that Swan had engaged Calvin Demarest to play at his academy against Cassinelli and Adjon they immediately made a proposition to Hoppe to come over to play Cure, and he accepted, making his own terms, as he knew they had to have him.

Cause Crowd for "Rouge Game."

You see, these match games bring the crowd that remain to bet on the "rouge game" after the big matches are played, but after Willie had played a couple of matches against Cure he was informed that there was a law against him playing, and that if he would be deported by the police, although there was no charge to see him play and no betting when he played. This of course was a blow to Swan, who had engaged Demarest at a large figure, and depended on the crowd to make him worth it, and who knew that Hoppe was the greatest drawing card, as he was well known in Paris, besides being the champion 15.1 and 18.2.

The Olympia brought very powerful influence to bear, and the police are going to allow Hoppe to remain and play for six months, which will cover the time of the "big professional tournament," as long as there is no betting on the part of himself or the spectators.

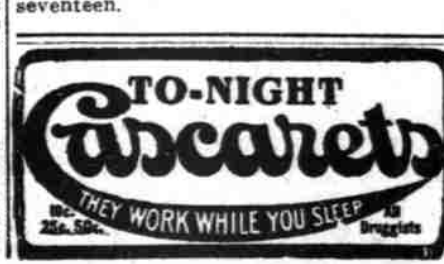

Goldman Battered Up.

NEW YORK, March 14.—Young Goldman is badly battered today as the result of his clash with Tommy Houck, of Philadelphia, last night. Cheered by a host of followers, the East Side boy made a good showing during the first four rounds, but during the remainder of the ten-outing, Houck had a decided advantage.

SUNNY MONDAY

Sunny Monday Laundry Soap will cost you but 5cts. You may get six or seven bars of the ordinary yellow rosin soap for a quarter, but when you think that it represents the saving of clothes, the real economy lies in buying Sunny Monday.

It is a white Soap—contains no rosin—and one bar will go as far as two bars of ordinary laundry soap.

TECH HIGH TRACK PROSPECTS BRIGHT

Athletes Negotiating for Grounds for a Big Season Ahead.

Track prospects at Technical High School seem up more favorable this season than at any time in the past four years, according to Capt. E. W. Thrall.

Plans are under way to use the grounds at Fifth street and Florida avenue, and it is thought that as the baseball team will use the diamond, the track team may be able to profit by the level stretches for dashes on the grass.

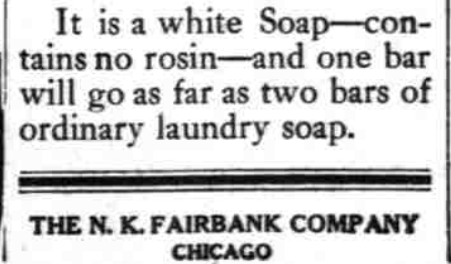

It is expected that a call will be issued some time this week and Captain Thrall and Manager Giles will look forward to having at least fifty men respond for active work.

The loss of Spransy in the high jump and weights will be felt, but several men have been developed during the winter. Snow, Knight, and Heine, the big football men, are expected to make a showing in the weight events. There are several who are good for more than five feet in the high jump, and Sando, in the vault, is expected to make good.

Timothy Morris may be depended upon in the hurdles and quarter is a source of gratification to the track men, as the clever athlete, with little practice, got third in the hurdles in the National Guard meet. Among the sprinters, Thrall, Slocner, Frazer, Eckendorf, Gouland, Fink, Offutt, Morris, Davis, Fitzpatrick, Mahoney, and Fortier are looked upon to make points for the school.

WILD BOB BURMAN IS SECOND OLDFIELD

Famous Driver's Suspension May Give Mantle to New Speed Demon.

DISTINGUISHED AT THE SAVANNAH RACE

Proves Himself a "Barnstormer" Worthy of the Name Successor.

By HARRY WARD.

There is a rumor floating about the country to the effect that "Will Bob" Burman is to succeed to the mantle of Barney Oldfield, who is under a two-year suspension for competing in un-sanctioned automobile races.

Oldfield made his reputation as a daring race driver on the mile and half-mile dirt tracks around the country, in negotiating which he was a past master. So far as the skill of guiding the racing machines in concerned, Burman is fully qualified. He brought the big Marquette-Bulck racing machine into third place in the Grand Prix race at Savannah last year, and has the distinction of driving the only American car that ever was "placed" in this big racing event. Burman says he would have won the race had it not been for the trouble. He changed tires no less than fifteen times, and the fact that he was less than twenty minutes behind the winner shows that Burman might have won had his tires held up.

He has a long and daring record in the steering wheel in all kinds of speed contests. As a "barnstormer" he should prove a worthy successor to Oldfield.

J. E. Sheldon, general manager of the Rambler Automobile Company of Washington, was host yesterday at the opening of the new Rambler building, at 1229 New York avenue, and was busy at 1229 New York avenue, and was busy throughout the day greeting many friends who called to wish the company much success in its new location. The Rambler salesrooms have been fitted up in pleasing style, and are patterned after the spacious automobile stores of New York and Philadelphia.

Coming from the interest being manifested in the new Rambler models, said Manager Sheldon, "we are going to have a fine sales record before the season closes."

M. G. Lepley is the latest purchaser of a Moon car. It is a 3-horsepower, fore-door touring car, and was sold to Mr. Lepley by the Motor Sales Company.

"Automobiles are finding new fields of work every day," said John Thomas, manager of the United Motor Washington Company. "In municipal service they have become indispensable. To accelerate the service of city-owned motor cars, and to aid in suppressing a wave of crime, the chief of police accented an offer of several private automobiles. When robberies terrorized the population, the United Motor Telephone company equipped several Maxwell cars with special bodies and paraphernalia to facilitate detention and transportation of prisoners. These cars, still in service, are held ready for instant use, and are making quick trips between police headquarters and the scene of robberies, doing patrol duty, their swift movements and unexpected appearance in different parts of the city have acted as a powerful deterrent upon the criminal, who previously had made life miserable."

The E-M-F Company has just placed on the market a new five-passenger Flinders "20" touring car at the sensational price of $380. Those who have seen the new Flinders "20" know it is another triumph for the E-M-F Company, and is in keeping with former announcements by this "live wire" organization. The new Flinders "20" is a new model, which has a three-speed selective type of transmission and a showing of the new design, is made possible, says the company, because of its large manufacturing facilities and enormous production.

A feature of the new car is the placing of all levers inside the body, and is identical with the latest American and European design. The door handles are built inside and are hidden from view. These features give the Flinders "20" fore-door body a clean-cut appearance. The Commercial and Supply Company, agent for the E-M-F and Flinders, will receive a shipment of the new model early this week.
